

Self. Society. World.

The Changemakers Annual Residential Sep 25-30 2022

Learning Framework

Ambitions

This Residential invites you to consider the relationship between yourself, how you are in your immediate society - your mindsets, behaviours, perceptions, skills - and influencing levers for change in the wider world. As in all Changemaker programmes this week is oriented around asking better questions, building better tools, and applying these in your experiences. So some of the learning you're doing might not necessarily appear obvious at first.

The residential has been designed to offer tastes of the topics and attributes listed below, and to give a sense of the direction you might take in developing any or all of them. It is designed to 'layer up' your knowledge and many topics will be threaded throughout the week - in plenaries and smaller sessions, readings, coaching circles, daily reflections & self-led exercises. Above all we hope you will find new insights, connections and knowledge!

If you find a more structured approach useful, this table connects each topic listed in the residential programme's remit with the elements in which it will most likely be a focus.
