

Receiving disclosures concerning Harassment and Sexual Violence

Homerton stands squarely with students in a determination to work to mitigate incidents of sexual violence and harassment, to empathise with and support victims, and to provide an effective process when incidents are disclosed or reported. We acknowledge and are actively concerned about the levels of harassment and sexual violence experienced by students in the UK and in Cambridge.

Tutors are required to engage with training in order to be equipped to support students who have experienced harassment and sexual violence and to signpost effectively to further support and action both inside and outside the College.

Training:

Homerton will offer training for Tutors annually. This will usually take the place of a Tutors' Meeting and occasionally we will offer longer training opportunities or invite Tutors to sign up for University training. Tutors are required to ensure that they have engaged with training in receiving disclosures and supporting students once every two years.

Support:

As Tutors, receiving disclosures sensitively with empathy and discretion is key. However, a student may value on-going support, alongside (and perhaps instead of) further professional assistance. Please do consult the university webpage for advice: Advice for supporters | Student Support \(cam.ac.uk\). Please note in particular the comments on confidentiality and student agency.

In brief:

- Assess whether there is immediate risk (of further attack or in relation to injury which requires medical attention). In these cases, call 999 and notify the Porter's Lodge.

If there is no immediate threat or risk:

- Believe what they are saying. This is their perceived experience they are entrusting to you.
- Listen. What the victim-survivor will require is sensitive attention and a willingness to hear. They need a safe, non-judgemental space to talk.

- Allow the student to retain agency – and ask whether they would like you to support them in taking further action or whether they simply wish to talk.
- Assure them that your support is not time limited – they can come back and ask for further action/support at a later point if this is their preference
- Keep careful, discrete notes (see the relevant recording document). These should be confirmed with the student following your meeting.
- Log your notes with the Safeguarding Coordinator (Grace Hernandez) – they will be kept confidentially and will not be acted upon without the reporting student's consent.
- Signpost with reference to further support and reporting options.

Signposting:

Further support and avenues to action are available both in College and within the University, as well as via charities and public services. Students can choose to:

- Consult the University specialist advice service: Harassment and violence support | Student Support \(cam.ac.uk\)
- Report within College. This would be managed by the Safeguarding Coordinator or Deputy Senior Tutor, with Tutor support, and an outcome might be a 'Mutual Behavioural Agreement'.
- Report within the University (OSCCAR) Report inappropriate behaviour of other students or staff | Student Complaints \(cam.ac.uk\) ('informal' and 'formal' options are available)
- Report to the police Reporting to the police – Cambridge Rape Crisis Centre | Support for survivors of sexual violence

Further help in College:

- The College Discrimination and Harassment Contacts (for 2023-2024: Priscilla Day Walsh, Helen Demetriou and Georgie Horrell College Discrimination and Harassment Contacts & Support \(cam.ac.uk\))
- The Wellbeing Coordinator, Grace Hernandez. Grace is able to advise and support with Formal Complaints related to staff members.
- Sandy Chambers, College Student Health Advisor College Student Health Advisor \(cam.ac.uk\)
- Deputy Senior Tutor (Wellbeing)
